Tech company EMC to bring 500 jobs to Utah

SALT LAKE CITY

The Utah governor's office says technology leader EMC Corp. will bring 500 new jobs to the state by the end of 2015.

The company plans a $7 million customer support center in central Utah.

In a deal with the Governor's Office of Economic Development, EMC will receive more than $3.5 million in tax credits. The credit is paid after the company pays corporate, wage and sales taxes and after it meets its obligation for job creation and capital investment.

State economic development officials say that over 10 years, EMC is expected to pay out more than $313 million in wages. The deal is expected to generate more than $14 million in new tax revenue for Utah.

EMC provides corporations with tools to better store, manage, protect and analyze information.
